UK Workshop Demonstrating Innovative Tools and Training for Response to Maritime HNS Incidents.

28th June 2017 Cardiff Metropolitan University, Western Avenue, Cardiff

As part of its involvement in the EU MARINER project, CRCE Wales is organising a UK workshop to demonstrate the tools and guidance being developed to enhance response to Maritime HNS Incidents. The 1 day event aims to raise awareness of the MARINER project and give a demonstration of a free web based interactive tool that can generate maritime exercises to support planning and preparedness.

The event is aimed at officers likely to attend command and control cells set up during an incident such as the Environment Group, Scientific Technical Advisory Cell, Tactical Co-ordinating group , Recovery Co-ordinating Group or officers who are part of the planning and response arrangements to shoreline pollution incidents.

The one day event will be held on 28th June at Cardiff Metropolitan University and is free.

Lunch and refreshments will be provided.

Spaces will be limited and will be on a first come first served basis.

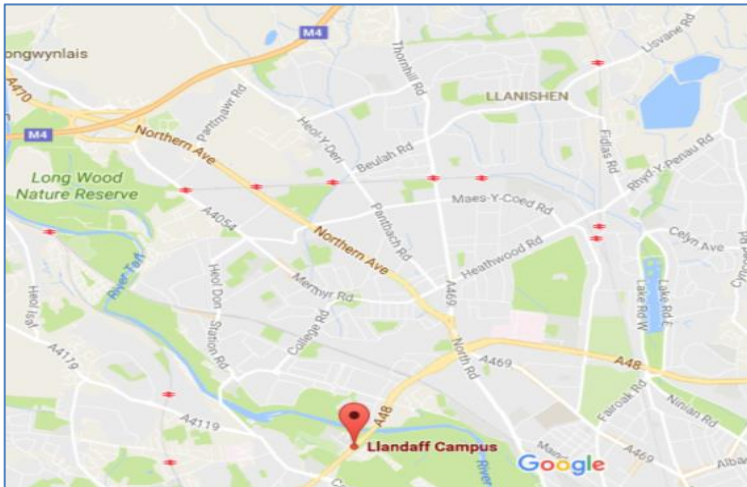

To register, please email Deborah.purnell@phe.gov.uk .
